HAVE YOU HEARD OF CLOSED SYLLABLES?

When one vowel is followed by only one consonant this forms a “closed syllable”.

When this occurs the vowel is always said with its short sound. The little scoop or smiley symbol is used above the vowel to indicate this in a dictionary – see the example above or look it up!

COMPETITION: Can a pen sit in a cup?!

Can you make a long sentence with lots of closed syllable words?

Email your sentence to Mrs D by Sunday evening. The student with the most creative sentence, containing the most closed syllables wins a prize, which will be awarded at morning assembly next week!

andrea.decarvalho@cg.catholic.edu.au